Radio Controlled Warbird Aircraft within Australia Bundaberg - The Home of Our Beginnings

Bev Rogers (Rick's wife) and Bill Rogers (Rick's brother) are standing outside Rick's Hangar, Bundaberg, Queensland, Australia.

Rick Rogers will always be remembered.

The Southern Cross Air Force - Formed 1998

In 1998, (the late) Rick Rogers of Bundaberg, Queensland formed the Southern Cross Air Force to fill an urgent need for pilots to display their skills of construction and flying Warbird aircraft. The membership grew quickly with many clubs within south-east Queensland wishing to host the one day or weekend events. The SCAF membership is over 110 strong and growing.

Our Host

Bundaberg Aeromodellers (our host for the 7th, 8th & 9th June, 2014) made us feel most welcome. Thirty four SCAF pilots signed in for the week-end and we occupied some 20 sites with caravans and tents. Once again, the weather was a bit 'crisp' and 'windy', but the warm fellowship makes up for everything.

The Bundaberg airfield has two long runways and the outer areas are very large making it hard to have an 'out of field' landing. The club has installed a weather station so everyone can know (from a distance) exactly what conditions are occurring on the day.

We thank all of the Bundy members who kept the food and drinks coming over the week-end. The 'gourmet burgers with the lot' on Saturday night was excellent. Thanks for being our host!

Our Sponsor

Bundy Hobbies & Toys assisted us with the prizes at the pilot's draw on the Sunday. We appreciate your assistance.

The North American Aviation T-28 Trojan was a piston-engined military trainer aircraft used by the United States Air Force and United States Navy beginning in the 1950s. Besides its use as a trainer, the T-28 was successfully employed as a Counter-insurgency (COIN) aircraft, primarily during the Vietnam War.
